THE PERFECT DAY

She always kept everything perfectly clean. For neatness and order she was keen, and no one could get her to stop.

Her husband comforted her at home. For fear he would miss up the place where his wife with a broom and a duster would roam.

With a stern sort of look on her face she never had time to be really kind, she never had time for a call.

Instead she was scrubbing some corner or nook or sweeping the stairs or the hall.

She swept all her beauty and goodness away. She swept all the joy out of life.

Until she became an automaton gray. A cleaning machine—not a wife.

She scrubbed the love from the heart of her spouse. Her children were playless and glum.

She had her reward—an immaculate house. Where nobody ever would come.

She swept, and she dusted and scrubbed like a slave. Till she swept herself into the tomb.

And the monument now at the head of her grave. Is a duster, a brush and a broom!

The Three Trees

Through sunshine and storm, through tempest and calm, the three oaks stood, their branches alternating between repose and strife, the playthings of the vagrant breezes.

It is 1780, old Caleb Andrews looks up from his death bed and out the window at a little sapling in the yard. "God bless you, little tree, for my son's sake," he murmurs and falls back, dead.

The little tree just stands and nods its head, its seems to understand. Caleb had planted this oak as a memorial to his oldest son, Henry, who died a hero's death at Bunker Hill.

It is 1864. The little sapling

Lesson for May 23

ISAAC AND HIS WELLS

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 26:12-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—A soft answer turneth away wrath, but grievous words stir up anger.—Prov. 15:1.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Isaac Refuses to Quarrel.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Isaac Refuses to Quarrel.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Isaac the Peace-maker.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How to Deal With Aggressors.

Isaac was a child of the covenant and given in the time of the old age of Abraham and Sarah in fulfillment of God's promise (Gen. 15:1-5). His name means laughter, a reminder of the gladness of the heart of his mother when she learned that she was to have a son. As to character he was gentle, meek, meditative and peace loving. He was a remarkable contrast to his father Abraham. Two things may have affected him to his disadvantage.

1. The shadow of his illustrious father.
Sons of great and rich men commonly do not make much of life. The necessity of struggle is not forced upon them.

2. He was brought up as the only child of his mother.

The tendency in such a case would be to shield him from the necessity of self-effort so that he would be unable to meet life's stern realities. Every child should be compelled to think for itself and to fight its own battles. While not a mighty man by nature's gifts, through the blessings of God's grace he became the inheritor of the covenant promise. He was not only a meek man, but a man of prayer as well (Gen. 24:63; 25:21; 28:20-22).

1. Isaac in Gerar (vv. 12-17).

1. The Lord appeared unto him (vv. 1-4).

Because of famine in the land Isaac went into the country of the Philistines. This distress should have moved him to call upon the Lord (Gen. 26:13). It was better to suffer in the land than to go among the enemies of God's people. The Lord graciously appeared to him there and directed him not to go into Egypt, thus avoiding the error of his father.

2. His lapse (vv. 7-11).

He fell into the same temptation as Abraham many years before (Gen. 20:13). When one goes into the enemy's country he can expect to be tempted to do wrong.

3. His prosperity (vv. 12-17).

Isaac did not intend to make Gerar his permanent place of abode. He intended only to sojourn there. While there he sowed and reaped bountifully. This prosperity was no proof that God approved of his course.

II. Isaac's Enemies (vv. 18-22).

Isaac was not permitted long to enjoy this fruitful land. His prosperity incited the envy of the Philistines. Success in any calling in life will provoke envy. Ministers and Sunday school teachers sometimes become envious of each other. The Philistines, however, were not content with their own prosperity. They sought to destroy Isaac.

Wherever envy has begun its deadly work there must be separation. They took as the method of getting rid of him the stopping up of the wells. Isaac did not contend with them but peacefully withdrew to another place where he proceeded again to till the wells of his father. The Philistines again strove with him. He named this place Bezek, which means contention, and again he removed from them. The second name he gave was Sitnah, which means enmity. This willingness to remove from the enemy shows his willingness to be injured rather than to fight. The third time he dug wells there was no strife. The name given to this was Rehoboth, which means room. We should learn from his behavior that the way to have peace is to wear out our enemies with patience.

III. Isaac in Beersheba (vv. 23-33).

Immediately upon Isaac's going up from among the Philistines the Lord appeared to him. The Lord permits envy and strife in the world in order to get his children separated from them. Following this visitation by the Lord, Isaac built an altar and called upon His name. As soon as a meeting place with Jehovah was established he pitched his tent there. Following this his servants dug a well. No use going among the Philistines to get water.

After Isaac was established in Beersheba, Abimelech came desiring to make an alliance with him. He gained influence by peacefully withdrawing from them. Being thus convinced they desired to enter into covenant relationship with him. The way to gain influence with the world is to withdraw from it.

Noblest of All Victories

For a man to conquer himself is the first and noblest of all victories; whereas to be vanquished by himself is the basest and most shameful of all things.

Believing in Truth

Trying to have the courage of other people's convictions is a difficult task. One must really believe in a truth himself before he is willing to suffer for it.

SPEAK TO ME

Dear Lord, I need thy glad hand Every passing hour, Whose voice like thine, O Lord, Has saving power!

I need thy sweet cheering voice, To speak to me, In my grief and lonely life, None can cheer like Thine.

Speak, dear Lord, new to me, Thy presence here I need, Oh, hear me now as I call, Here the prayer, I plead.

Just speak, dear Lord, to me, I listen for thy call, Oh, speak, before I fall, I have listened in other days, For your voice crying, "Follow me!"

But now, dear Lord, I am waiting, Speak, my heart is thine

Is cake baking really difficult?

"Not when you have the right stove," say six famous cooks.

There is no reason why cake-making should be less successful than any other cooking operation—when the cook can depend upon her stove.

THAT is the statement of six famous cooks who have just completed a practical cooking test of the Perfection Stove. All six agreed in praising the Perfection highly for its baking ability, as well as for its general performance.

"Speaking of cakes, half the making is in the baking," said Miss Rosa Michaelis, New Orleans, domestic science specialist.

"An even temperature must be maintained while an angel food and other cakes are baking," added Miss Margaret A. Hall, nutrition expert of the Battle Creek College of Home Economics. "When I baked cakes in the Perfection oven I used a standard, portable oven thermometer as a check. The flame did not creep or crawl. You can depend on the Perfection flame to remain as you set it."

"My orange cakes and devil's foods were delicious," commented Mrs. Kate B. Vaughn, Los Angeles, household economics director. "The air circulation in the Perfection oven seems perfect. All excess moisture was carried away."

"It's the 'live heat' of the Perfection Oven which brings such good results," said Mrs. Rorer, famous Philadelphia cook.

"The Perfection oven is so roomy that there is room for several cakes at a time," said Mrs. Belle DeGraf, San Francisco. "And, through the glass door of the oven you can see just how they are baking. No need to open the door and lose any heat."

Miss Lucy G. Allen, of the Boston School of Cookery, commented on the visible oil supply. "You can see," she remarked, "whether you have enough for your cooking. If not, it's easy to refill the Perfection reservoir without soiling your hands."

High Praise These are just a few of Perfection's good baking points which the six expert cooks praised highly. You will find many others when you bake on a Perfection. It's the stove which proves cake-baking is not difficult.
